

What to Expect Staying in the Round House

Included with your two-night stay is a loaf of wood-fired sourdough, jar of hand-crafted jam (some exceptions apply), coffee, tea, use of kayaks, use of snowshoes, and use of sauna.

Provided for your use is a cooler to store a few items, gas cook top, propane, dishes, cups, coffee mugs, coffee press, tea pot, pots, pans, utensils, dish washing basin, dish soap, tea towels, sheets, pillows, blankets, bath towels, hand soap, toilet paper, Bluetooth speaker, smudging supplies, firewood, candles, a few books and slippers if you forgot yours.

The Round House is pet friendly, but the main guest house is not. No pets on the beds or sofa please. Our dogs Pedro and Ska love meeting other dogs.

What to bring in the summer:

- cooler of food with ice packs
- reusable water bottle
- bathing suit
- bug spray
- books, journal
- pet blanket/bed, and crate if you use one

In the summer we have an outdoor shower with hot water. The private outhouse has a compost toilet and cold running water.

What to bring in the winter:

- cooler of food
- reusable water bottle
- snowshoes or skis if you have
- slippers or indoor shoes
- warm clothes
- books, journal
- pet blanket/bed, and crate if you use one

In the winter you are welcome to use the shower in the sauna room if there is a group facilitating a retreat. Otherwise, you can use the shower in the guest house.

What not to bring:

One of our core values is leaving a small footprint and being gentle on the environment. Do not bring small plastic bottles of water. We have potable water in a jug for you. You can refill your reusable water bottle. We expect you to compost and recycle using the receptacles provided. If you don't know what goes into the compost, please ask. Ask us where to dispose of the compost and garbage.

We know you will enjoy this special place. Every piece of wood and decorative element has been placed with care and intention.

Please text or call if you need anything or have questions.
